Fusion Joins Control4's Partnership Program

Fusion media server products now have Control4 drivers available through the company's partnership program.

Danville, CA - 8/29/08 - Fusion Research formally announced today that it has become a certified Control4 partner and will be showcasing Control4 products in their booth at CEDIA.

Shail Mangla, Fusion's CTO explains, "We are very excited to become a partner with Control4, many of our dealers have asked us to integrate our products together. Now our Control4 dealers can have access to these drivers, which are available for download to control our media servers. We anticipate working closely in the future as we continue to develop our products with new features and options."

"Control4's integration with Fusion's media server gives homeowners easy and affordable access to their content," said Glen Mella, Control4 President. "By working together, we ensure that customers have an easy, flexible way to access and manage content within their whole-home automation system."

Control4 products will be featured in Fusion's booth #973 at the upcoming CEDIA show in Denver.
